

City Hospital Treats 12 In Emergencies

A Salineville area man hurt in a fall through a hay mow was in "fair" condition today at City Hospital, where 11 other district residents were treated Monday.

Arthur C. Moore of Salineville R. D. 2 suffered injuries of the left hand and arm in the fall through the mow and was admitted late yesterday afternoon.

William Howard of Glenmoor was treated early this morning for a cut on the upper lip after he fell down steps at home.

Charles C. Brown of Stratton, an employee of the Ohio Power Co., was treated last night for a cut eyebrow and abrasions of the face and leg after he fell with a ladder at work.

Trina Gutierrez, daughter of Terrel Gutierrez of Smiths Ferry R. D. 1, suffered an injury of the forehead in a fall from a cart at a store.

John Nicholson, son of Robert Nicholson of Wellsville R. D. 1, received a cut of the forehead in a fall at play.

Struck in the mouth by a baseball, John Michels Jr., son of John Michels of 1219 St. Clair Ave., suffered a laceration of the mouth.

Roy Carmichael of 923 Myler Rd. received a finger injury in a fall.

In a fall on a piece of glass, Jeffrey Southall, son of Charles Southall of Lisbon St. Ext., suffered a cut on the knee.

Mrs. Florence Priest of Pughtown received a cut finger on glass while washing dishes.

James Bragg of 84 Grant St., Newell, was treated for a puncture wound of the wrist suffered on a lead pencil.

Sharon Marie Kent, stepdaughter of Carl Russell of 7 Thompson Pl., received an ankle injury in a fall on the way to school.

Registration Set For Homemakers Event Next Week

LISBON — Women of Columbiana and Mahoning counties may still register for a three-day homemakers' forum next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday at the Salem Christian Church.

Miss Ann Overturf, Columbiana County extension agent for home economics, said approximately 100 women had registered by Monday.

She and Mrs. Beulah Converse, Mahoning County extension agent for home economics, hope for 250 for the classes, the first homemakers forum in this area.

The registration fee this week will be $1, but this does not include lunches for the three days as did the $3.25 charged last week. Planners had to give the churchwomen advance notice of the number of lunches to be served.

Homemakers may register at the extension office in Lisbon or at Canfield, sending their name, address, registration fee and the two preferred and two second-choice courses from the following list:

"Understanding the Food Market," "A Home: Buying, Building or Remodeling," "Feeding the Crowd," "Clothing Alteration and Remodeling," "Wall Finishes and Paints," "The Pre-Schooler: How and Why He Thinks," and "The Years of Involvement: The Elementary School Child."

Miss Overturf said women may enroll at the forum next week, but they may not get the courses they prefer. Classes will be limited to 50 women.

Hancock Branch Scholarship Set

Allan Katzman, president of the Katzman Co., Youngstown engineer and constructor, with offices in Weirton, has announced his firm has created the Emanuel Katzman Memorial Scholarship at the Hancock County Branch of West Liberty State College at Weirton.

The annual $500 grant will be presented to a Weirton area high school graduate who plans to enroll in the pre-engineering curriculum.

The purpose of the scholarship, according to Katzman, is to aid a deserving student and also help relieve the shortage of trained personnel in industry.

Wilton B. Culley, director of the Hancock County Branch, reported that the scholarship is the first to be given by a business or industrial firm to the West Liberty Branch.

Fire Prevention Event Planned In Joint Discussion

Twenty-four attended a joint meeting of the safety committee of the Chamber of Commerce and representatives of area fire departments Monday night at the Ohio Valley Gas Co. service building in Glenmoor, at which plans were laid for the annual local observance of National Fire Prevention Week beginning Oct. 9.

Fire prevention literature to be used during the campaign was distributed, including posters and "safety check lists" to be used in uncovering fire hazards in homes. The literature also will be distributed to area schools.

Representatives attended from the East Liverpool fire department, volunteer companies in Glenmoor, Calcutta, Liverpool Township East and West, Chester, Newell and Lawrenceville, as well as a new firefighting brigade at the Globe Brick Co.

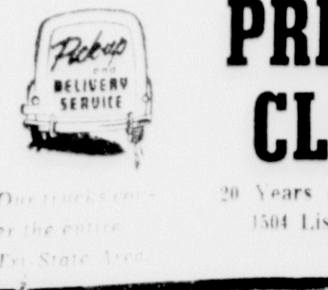

A highlight of the program was the screening of a new film on firefighting made available by the gas company. Refreshments were served.

The safety committee is headed by Samuel Brown.

He was assisted by Harold Sueddon and James Walker.

Residents Will Get Chance To Zip Code Mailing Lists

The project will be a feature of "ZIP Code Week," to be observed locally Oct. 10-15. Throughout the nation 95,000,000 of the cards will be delivered. In cities with more than one ZIP code, there will be two cards for each household — one for local addresses, the other card for out-of-town.

In rural areas and cities with one ZIP code assigned, only an out-of-town card will be delivered, since all local addresses will have the same ZIP code.

"This is a good time to get the ZIP codes missing from your lists," Brown noted. "This Christmas, ZIP code will be as important as shopping and mailing early for the efficient and on-time delivery of the record-breaking avalanche of mail expected in the pre-holiday weeks."

After filling in the street number, city and state, the cards are to be mailed back to the postmaster. Post office personnel will add the proper ZIP codes and return the cards to the sender.

President Johnson has proclaimed Oct. 10-15 as "ZIP Code Week" to promote greater usage of ZIP Code.

Something To Discuss

West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard and Lyndon B. Johnson have lots in common as they begin their talks this week. Both have experienced precipitous dips in popular support; both preside over inflation-ridden economies; both face setbacks in autumn elections.

The purpose of Erhard's visit, however, is not commiseration but discussion of American forces in West Germany. West German newspapers have said for months the United States intends to withdraw 75,000 of its 210,000 troops in Europe. The majority are stationed in Germany.

Withdrawal of this magnitude could spell political death for Erhard. More important, European security might be endangered. If the presence of Allied forces has protected West Germany from Soviet aggression, advocates of withdrawal must ask themselves if this threat has ceased to exist.

Sen. Mike Mansfield and the 12 other members of the Senate Democratic Policy Committee have sponsored a resolution calling for "substantial reduction" of American forces permanently stationed in Europe. The resolution has since acquired 13 additional co-sponsors, including three conservative Republicans. Debate is expected to begin shortly after Erhard goes back home.

The troop question is economic as well as military. This country's military expenditures in Europe last year amounted to $1.5 billion, nearly half of it spent in West Germany. The effect of this huge outlay on the American balance-of-payments deficit is massive.

Since 1963, West Germany has been under commitment to buy about $650 million worth of military equipment a year from the United States. The purchases were to offset the costs of maintaining U.S. troops in Germany. Bonn lived up to the agreement in 1963 and 1964, but will fall $600 million short of meeting the current two-year commitment.

Messrs. Johnson and Erhard will discuss this, too.

Looking For Sanctuary

What the underworld executives of this country are greatly in need of is a place to discuss their common problems without wondering about the possibility of arrest.

It is painfully plain to them the New York state simply is not a safe meeting ground. Twice in the memory of man they have been molested by meddling policemen while meeting there.

This may be no more serious the second time than it was when others like them were nabbed nine years ago in a conclave at Appalachia. It remains to be seen what hurdles and pitfalls have been lined up by law authorities in Queens County this time.

But harassment—twice in nine years—is the sort of thing underworld executives would like to put safely behind them. They do not like to be reminded even sporadically that what they are doing is of questionable legality.

It is nothing like as heinous as splitting up a market for electrical appliances, boosting the price of automobiles, letting control of a successful company drift into the hands of one family, or trying to combine the resources of a couple of railroads tired of bleeding each other to death.

But to be arrested and detained like ordinary male factors while lawyers scurry to the rescue with writs of this and that and bail in large figures destroys the image of an underworld executive.

It makes him look as if he had to struggle into his pants the hard way just like everybody else, plus the risk of being picked up and arrested unpleasantly for doing unpleasant things to other people.

The first place that can assure these people of a snug harbor will find them beating a path to its borders, if they haven't already beaten one in happy anticipation of finding somewhere, sometime a sanctuary so safe they never will need to fear arrest again.

and when not. It doesn't depend on "Provocation." It depends instead on when the Reds believe they can take advantage of war for their own purposes.

NOW IT'S POSSIBLE the Red Chinese will enter the war heavily in Viet Nam. There are some careful, responsible State Department analysts who feel they might.

The experience of the last few years does not indicate that Chinese entry will depend on U.S. "escalation" or "provocation." It will depend, instead, on whether entry will serve the Mao-Lin Piao purposes at this time.

Would full-scale entry help awaken the youth to sacrifice and bind them to Lin Piao's leadership? Would it aid in getting rid of Lin's opponents within Red China? Would it be possible to lure U.S. troops into fighting on Lin's terms?

In this sense, the more successful the current purges in Red China and the more the youth are aroused on lines carefully laid out by the regime, the less necessity for a war.

The problem of war could come to the forefront if the Mao-Lin leadership decides the youth are not with them and that a war is necessary to "purify" the youth by making them go through the kind of struggles needed to make them "true revolutionaries."

Mao and Lin are strong believers in the importance of struggle. Both have made it clear they consider that without fighting there can be no growth.

If Mao and Lin can develop in the Red Guard, the purges and other organized violence in China a substitute for military clashes there will be less of a domestic political reason for a head-on clash with the United States.

Editorial Research

Medicare's cost to the taxpayer may in time be equalled or surpassed by that of Medicaid, a less well known program. Under Title 19 of the 1965 law that created Medicare, the federal government agreed to pay half the cost of state programs — Medicaid — for the "medically indigent," regardless of age.

A year ago, HEW calculated that if all 50 states set up Medicaid programs, the federal share would come to $238 million in its first year. That was before New York set up its program.

Medicaid in that state would, by itself, require $217 million in federal money during fiscal 1967. By 1970, when it will be fully in operation, the New York program would cost local, state and federal governments around $1.4 billion a year.

HEW, which has yet to approve the New York program, may seek to tighten its eligibility standards. As it now stands, a family of four with an after-tax annual income as high as $6,000 would qualify for free medical treatment.

As long as the American economy remains in high gear, it is a safe bet that medical costs will continue to mount. Economists have discovered that medical care is a commodity with a "high-income elasticity of demand" — that is, as incomes rise medical demand will rise even faster.

U.S. Probes Labor Mobs

By Victor Riesel

WASHINGTON — With the aid of scores of FBI teams, the Justice Department has unleashed an unseasonable heat wave, immaculate and traditionally imperturbable executives of a network of criminal syndicates are sweating it out in 12 major cities across the country from high-rise Manhattan to Miami's beaches and Los Angeles' boulevards.

The intensity of the organized crime section drives, some old and secretive, some new, is because of the sudden release of manpower from a burdensome summer chore — the cleansing of Justice Department records of information obtained by wiretapping and eavesdropping "bugs."

Much of the summer was spent on the files to avoid their being "contaminated" by what would be considered unusable evidence in court — and which has been criticized by a Senate committee.

At least 20 grand juries now are hearing dramatic evidence from witnesses who are "opening up" on everything from the use of foreign banks in labor rackets, extortion, invasion of businesses by notorious Cosa Nostra characters to multimillion-dollar shakedowns.

PROBES in New York by the crusading U.S. Atty. Robert Morgenthau and in northern New Jersey by the equally dedicated federal "D.A." Dave Satz, easily are the most startling and intriguing. In these areas it isn't a matter of whether there will be indictments of labor racketeers, but of how many indictments there will be.

But there are other important grand jury probes digging into mob muck in Oklahoma, Illinois, California (Los Angeles), Ohio, Michigan (fringes of Detroit), Virginia and Minnesota. It can be reported. There are other FBI probes, not yet in the grand jury stage, in Indiana and Missouri.

Easily the newest mob twist is developing in the U.S. Southern District of New York where Mr. Morgenthau has at least five grand juries hacking away at the underworld structure.

He has been digging deeply for many months now into the mobsters' use of foreign "anonymous numbered accounts" banks in Panama and Switzerland to evade not only the income tax and financial securities laws, but the federal labor statutes as well.

In the words of one source, "there is big money, real big money involved" in the operation. It works somewhat like this:

Corporation A, either a mob business or merely some firm needing cash, makes contact with any one of a number of lawyers or brokers who have connections with some labor-management pension funds. The company needs the money badly and is willing to pay a 10 per cent commission to the contact man. He puts the deal through.

THEN, SAYS HE, pay me 1 per cent here — and deposit 9 per cent in such-and-such Swiss or Panamanian bank where "my partner" has an anonymous numbered account. It turns out that the "partner" is a union official or one of its pension fund trustees.

The trustee worked the deal with the lawyer or broker. There are many variations on the theme. Virtually all of them violate sections of the Taft-Hartley or the Labor-Management Reporting and Disclosure Act.

The news on this front will break shortly enough — as it will, across the Hudson River in northern New Jersey. There the Justice Department's organized crime section, now headed by a professional law enforcement career man, Henry (Peter) Peterson, has concentrated an imposing force of diverse agents from several departments — Labor, Justice, Treasury (Internal Revenue Service) — and, of course, the FBI.

IN ADDITION to Mr. Satz, there are three attorneys from the organized crime section. Their probe is the "hottest" thing in the investigation arena today. It goes right into the construction field.

There have been shakedowns reminiscent of earlier days when millions of dollars in small bills, old and well worn, changed hands. Some business agents have been clipping as much as $60,000 to $70,000 a year.

What has appalled the probes is the ensuing cost to the consumer as a result of the skyrocketing expense of constructing the installations involved.

Cross Town

By David Lawrence

A Question On School Integration

A multibillion-dollar plan to compel parents to send their children across town to assure a racial balance in the public schools has created a furor in Congress.

A draft of proposed legislation has been made public, but the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare has issued an ambiguous denial saying there are several drafts which are "under discussion."

Meanwhile, how can the American people be sure some vague phraseology in a law dealing with grants for school construction will not be used as authority to withhold public funds unless racial imbalance is corrected by busing children to schools specified by the federal government?

How can the citizenry of the nation do anything to forestall such a development, except by insisting that every candidate for Congress, Republican or Democrat, say explicitly whether he or she favors granting authority, directly or indirectly, to the executive branch of the government to deal in any way with busing of students in public schools?

Many members of Congress are worried by the situation. While some like Rep. Paul A. Fino, Republican of New York, have come out in the open with their criticism, others are waiting to see the text of the school-construction bill and intend then to require a full investigation and to offer amendments covering their desire to prevent school busing designed to force integration.

The device being considered by the department of Health, Education and Welfare would not mention any compulsion of local school boards, but the end result would be the same.

A text of the Educational Opportunity Act of 1967, with a detailed memorandum of explanation accompanying it, has become available on Capitol Hill. The memorandum starts out with a general statement about grants for construction, but then comes the following paragraph:

"Administration of grants. State educational agencies would assign priorities to protect applications on the basis of objective — need criteria, with preference for projects designed to alleviate segregation or racial imbalance. The commissioner of education would have final approval authority before a project could be funded under this title."

In another part of the memorandum—headed "Education Excellence Grants"—there is the manifest lure of public funds to achieve racial balance. The text says:

"Local educational agencies would be eligible for federal grants to assist in achieving integrated education"

"Federal grants would be offered to schools which have few or no students from minority racial or ethnic groups in order to facilitate educational integration and reduce educational disparities."

The official memorandum also says that the 1964 Civil Rights Act — which prohibits the use of federal funds to secure racial balance — support techniques appropriate to correct de facto segregation in individual communities."

Some of the "techniques" listed include "increased busing from overcrowded and underutilized schools, in-class pupil grouping to avoid racial separation," and "teacher assignment to assure faculty integration at all schools."

The Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, John W. Gardner, in his denial, argues that no legislation to be proposed will "compel" busing to correct racial imbalance. But Rep. Fino says in reply:

"The people at the Health, Education and Welfare Department know—and I know—that subsidies can be set up in such a way as to amount to compulsion if made a part of a metro-aid package. What I want to know is whether they are going to submit the bill I exposed."

The Supreme Court desegregation decision in 1954 declared segregation in the public schools by deliberate means to be unconstitutional, but it did not say that school integration is compulsory.

Many local laws and ordinances have been adopted to achieve racial balance, but this is a function of the states.

The real question is whether funds provided by the taxpayers of the entire nation can be used, in effect, to compel cities and counties to do whatever the federal government tells them to do to bring about school integration.

Cider Time

When the frost is on the pumpkin and the cider is in the cellar, all's right with the world.

Autumn has been cider time in the United States since colonial days, the National Geographic Society points out. Cider — sweet and hard — was the chief beverage of the colonists, who drank it by the barrel.

These days, cider is more likely to be bottled than barreled and sweet instead of hard, but it remains a popular drink. In apple country, as summer ends, every roadside stand displays jugs of the golden-brown beverage. Cider and doughnuts are autumn staples.

All cider is made from apple juice, but all apple juice is not cider. The freshly-squeezed liquid treated to prevent spoilage, and sold in sealed bottles and cans, generally is regarded as plain apple juice.

Sweet cider is fresh apple juice with no preservatives added. Hard cider is apple juice that has been allowed to ferment naturally. Applejack is something else again. It is apple brandy, distilled from hard cider. Unlike many other fruit distillates, applejack retains the distinctive aroma of the original fruit.

At one time, farmers made applejack by merely freezing hard cider. The unfrozen residue was a crude and powerful drink, whose effect, one rufel imbiber recalled, was like a crack on the head with a hammer.

Under New Point Plan

3 Driver Schools Listed
For Beaver County Sites

Location of driver improvement schools in Beaver County to open Monday under Pennsylvania's new educational point system law have been announced by Harry Brainerd, state commissioner of traffic safety.

The schools will be at the Rochester High School, Aliquippa High School and Beaver Falls Area Senior High School.

Brainerd said 4,000 drivers are being assigned to 100 schools throughout the state.

OF THIS number, 1,500 were convicted of violations carrying a six-point penalty during the first month and six days after the point system became effective July 24 and about 2,500 being referred to the schools for the conviction of violations prior to July 24.

Brainerd said 25,000 convictions were received by the Bureau of Traffic Safety during the five-week period.

About 5,000, or 20 per cent of the total number of convictions received, were subject to the point system, while 20,000, or 80 per cent, were violations committed prior to the new law's effective date.

While drivers will be assigned to driver improvement schools by the Bureau of Traffic Safety on the basis of conviction over the limit is assessed six reports received, the schools will be administered through the Adult Education Department of the Department of Public Instruction.

Motorists assigned to the stiffer license suspension.

Schools will be required to complete an eight-hour course, consisting of two-hour sessions once each week for four consecutive weeks.

Schooling will be in the form of discussion, with visual aids, films and instruction in the classes which will vary from a minimum of 20 to a maximum of 45 persons.

CLASSES will be conducted by 126 instructors, selected from the public school system on the basis of experience in adult education and driver training, and who qualified by completing an instructors' workshop.

The commonwealth will reimburse the local education agency for the operation of the driver improvement school program. Maximum reimbursement that will be approved is $126 for each course conducted.

All drivers who amass six points must attend a school. Upon successful completion of the course, each will have one point removed from his record.

Failure to attend will bring an additional five-point penalty. Drivers with 11 points for the first time will lose their licenses for 60 days.

A person convicted of speeding more than 10 miles an hour over the limit is assessed six points and required to go to school. Speeding 16 to 20 miles over the limit brings, in addition to school, a 15-day suspension and faster speeds bring stiffer license suspension.

Archbishop's
Funeral Held
In Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP)—Many of the country's Catholic hierarchy were here today for the funeral mass of Archbishop Edward F. Hoban, spiritual leader of the Cleveland Diocese for more than 20 years.

Archbishop Egidio Vagnozzi, apostolic delegate to the United States, and six Ohio bishops were to concelebrate the solemn pontifical requiem mass in St. John Cathedral.

Archbishop Hoban died in his suburban Bratenahl home last Thursday at the age of 88.

Hundreds of priests, nuns and civic leaders had special tickets for the noon mass because of the limited seating capacity of about 1,500.

Francis Cardinal Spellman of New York, dean of American cardinals, said Monday night the Cleveland archbishop was a man whose talents were used fully for the betterment of his people and the community.

"I knew him for a long time," Cardinal Spellman said in his downtown hotel suite, "and we met frequently in New York when he would be passing through."

"He was a kind and considerate bishop whose first concern was his clergy and his people."

Bishop Clarence Isenmann, who succeeded Archbishop Hoban as seventh bishop of the diocese, received a telegram Monday from Pope Paul VI, expressing his sorrow.

'Adelines' Hold
Second Showing
Of New Uniform

The second showing of a uniform to be used during the annual show was presented at a special meeting of the Sweet Adelines Friday night at the Potters Savings and Loan Co. annex.

It will be voted on when the group meets Friday night.

The dresses were modeled by Madalyn Mack and Jody Popejoy. Choreography to be used was demonstrated by Lorida Harvey.

Twenty-five attended the rehearsal under the direction of Nancy Beaver. Following the business meeting, there was a short session with the advertising committee, with Doris Cameron chairman.

Visitors were Lindalee McKenzie and Lucille Deshler, both of East Liverpool, Alta Brenton of Menlo Park, Calif., and Frances Santimaro of Wellsville.

Attending the meeting of Region 16 at Buffalo, N. Y., were Jennie Jones, Jan Dietz, Norma Jones and Bette Damaska.

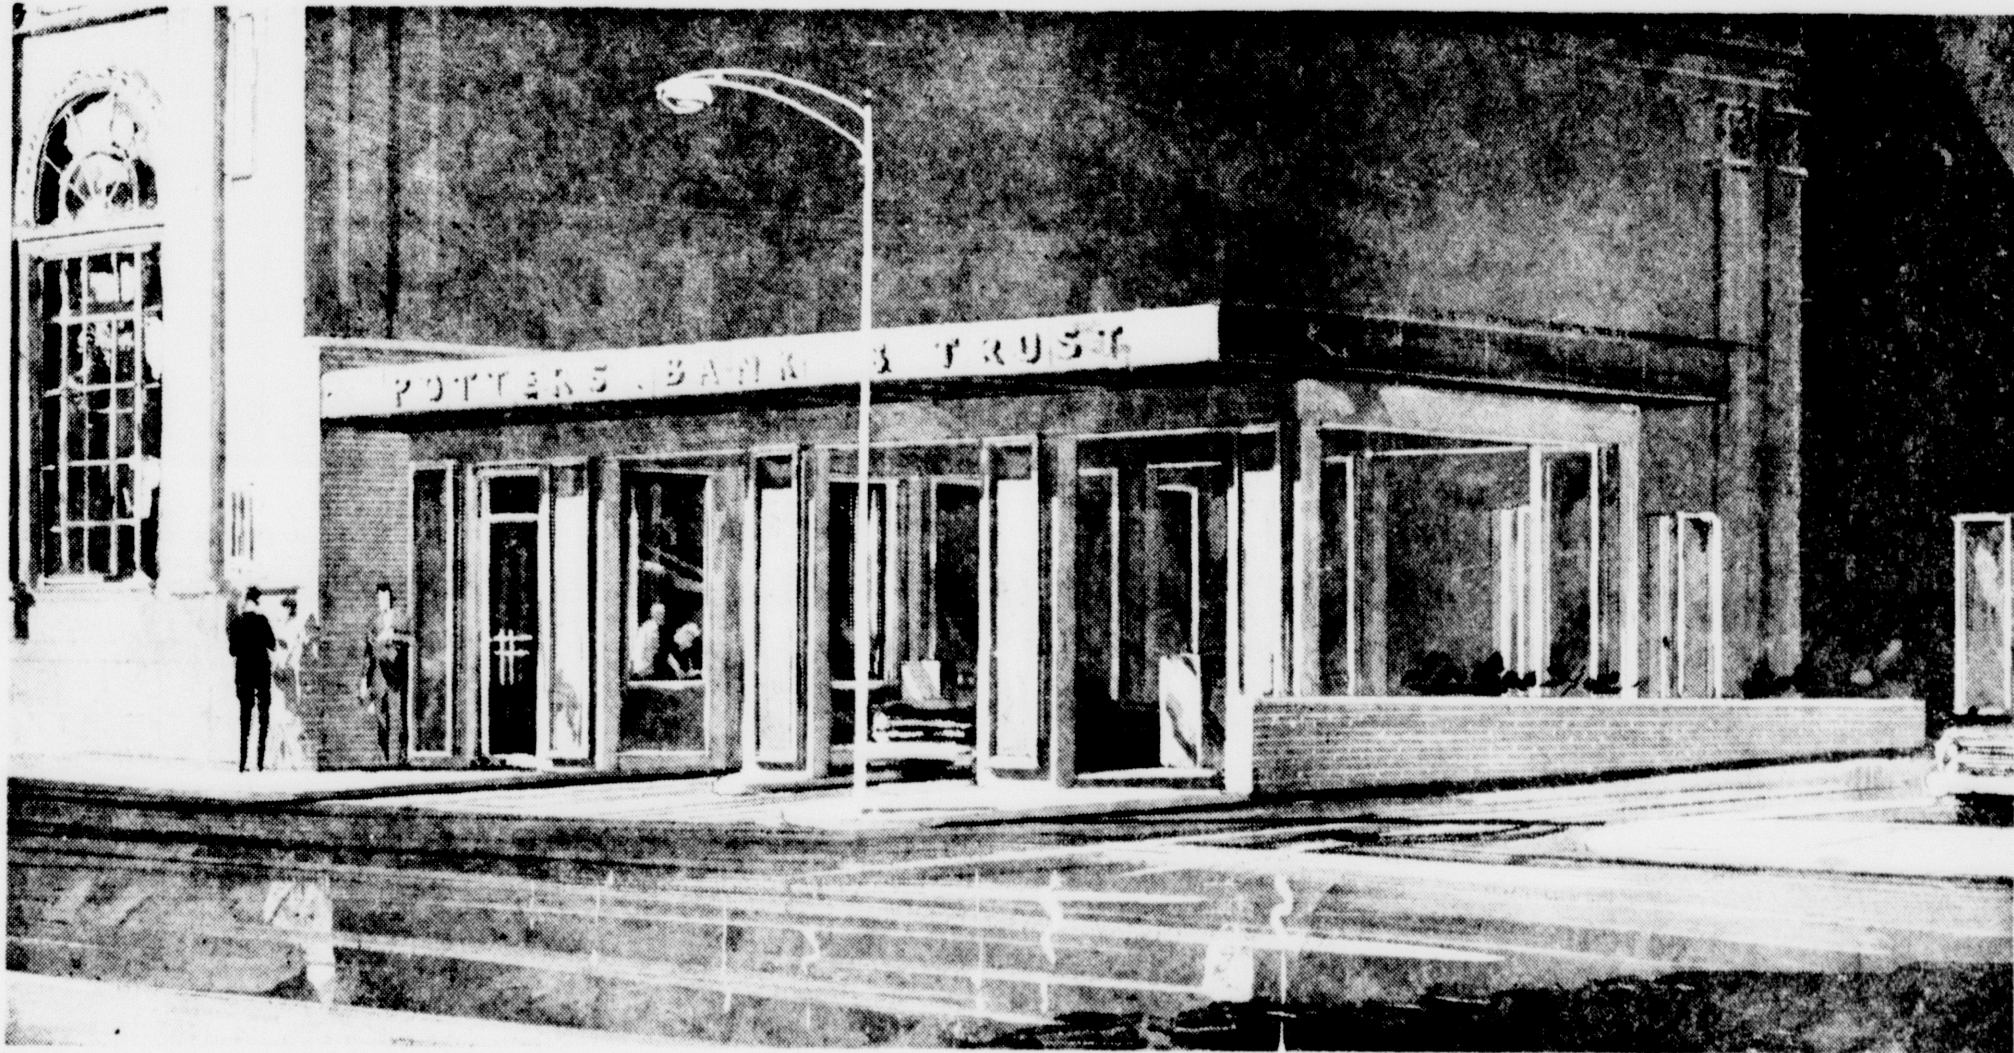

County Teachers
Attend Meeting

Curtis Hayes of the Beaver Local School District attended the 14th annual Ohio conference of school guidance counselors Friday and Saturday at Columbus.

Also attending were Dan Friedberg of Leetonia and Joseph Herman of United Local.

Dr. Eugene Wilson, dean of admissions at Amherst College in Massachusetts, was the keynote speaker. Dr. Frank L. Severs, chief of the guidance and personnel services branch of the Office of Education of the Health, Education and Welfare Department at Washington, spoke at a banquet Friday night.

Hayes said he plans to meet with parent-teacher groups and service clubs in the district to outline the guidance program for the parents.

BANK the MODERN WAY
LET OUR TV TELLER
MAKE YOUR BANKING EASIER . . .
MORE CONVENIENT FOR YOU

In a recent survey, thousands of bank customers were asked why they liked T.V. banking. The reasons they gave are listed below. How many of these advantages reflect your own ideas on the subject?

- 1 "It saves time" Busy, modern people like the way that TV banking saves time, frees them for things they want to do.
- 2 "No parking problems" From the time you leave your home or office to the time you return, you needn't leave the seat of your car.
- 3 "No weather problems" If the weather is good enough to drive in, it's perfect for TV banking.
- 4 "Very convenient" You can fit TV banking into your schedule conveniently without making a major production out of it.
- 5 "Need not dress up" Sports clothes, house dresses, any attire is high fashion at the TV window.
- 6 "Can bring children and pets" Housewives particularly like the idea of having young children and family pets right in the car with them.
- 7 "Feel safer" Many women, and people with large cash deposits, often feel safer driving right up to the window in their cars.
- 8 "Effortless way" The trend is to do things the easy way, and there's no easier way to bank than this.

'Inez' Howls Toward Isle

MIAMI Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Inez bore down on the French Islands of Guadeloupe with 100-mile-an-hour fury today and 1,000 miles in her wake another tropical blow appeared to be forming.

The 295,000 residents of Guadeloupe, a chain of seven rum sugar and coffee producing islands at the eastern end of the Caribbean, battered down against an assault of wind and water expected to reach its height in the afternoon.

And, 1,000 miles east of Trinidad near the coast of Venezuela, a new disturbance with circulating winds showed up on the map, moving westward along the historic path of hurricanes coming across the Atlantic from their breeding grounds near Africa.

Small craft hurried into safe harbors through most of the Leeward and Windward Islands as Inez approached, pushing up great tides and swells. Guadeloupe is a part of the Leeward chain.

Still fresh in the memory of Guadeloupe residents is Hurricane Cleo, which roared through the French Islands in August 1964 killing 14 persons and destroying the banana crops and 1,000 homes before roaring on to hit Miami a damaging blow.

The Weather Bureau warned those living in exposed coastal areas to evacuate immediately.

Early today Inez was 70 miles east of Guadeloupe and traveling westward at 12 miles an hour. Beyond, on this track, lay the U.S. Virgin Islands and Puerto Rico. All were placed on an emergency hurricane watch.

Inez was centered about 420 miles east-southwest of San Juan, the Puerto Rican capital, and 1,400 miles southeast of Miami.

Her top winds increased by 10 miles an hour during a three-hour period early today and condensed milk, which dries, forecasters said a further build-up of the storm's power was expected.

Watermelon pickle is particularly attractive when the wind is in a cool cut in diamond shapes.

Mrs. Frances Holcomb led devotions, using Romans 8:35-39, and reading an article, "Try Giving Yourself Away." She closed with prayer.

Mrs. Whittaker was in charge of entertainment, with prizes going to Mrs. Mary Hough and Miss Headley. Miss Gertrude Irons of Phoenix, Ariz., a former local resident, was a guest. Lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Dustman.

The October meeting will be with Mrs. Julia Putt of 7th St. with Mrs. Whittaker as co-hostess. Mrs. Doris Knepper will have devotions and Mrs. Dora Wilson will have charge of the entertainment.

A chicken dinner will be served at Mt. Sinai Fire Baptist Holiness Church Wednesday night from 5 to 7:30 o'clock for the benefit of the pastor's anniversary rally.

Chester Society

Mrs. J. D. Miller EV 7-2721

Blue Crescent Club of Chester Masons and Eastern Stars will hold a coverdsh dinner Wednesday night at 6:30 at the Masonic Temple, with Mrs. Jackie Powers and Mrs. Elizabeth Pryor in charge of arrangements.

Walter Elliott will preside.

The Young Adult Group of the 1st United Presbyterian Church met Friday night at the church, with Paul Doughty presiding.

Nelson Campbell and Edwin Wine screened color slides of their trip this summer through eastern states.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Doughty and Mrs. C. Donald Vogel.

The date of the October meeting will be announced.

Newell Society

The PTA of the school is completing plans for a school fair Oct. 7, featuring games and exhibits.

Mr. and Mrs. George Jones were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Klammer of Mt. Jackson, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Apple entertained at a family dinner Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. John DeAngelo and family of Summitville visited Mr. and Mrs. Sam Ronshak Sunday.

How Can I?

By ASNE ASHLEY

Q.—How can I cope with gray stains on fabrics?

A. Soak washables in cold water, then wash with soap and water. If a stain still remains when the fabric has dried, sponge with carbon tetrachloride. In the case of unwashables, sponge the stains with cold water, then apply an absorbent such as fuller's earth, cornstarch, French chalk, or talcum powder — or sponge with carbon tetrachloride.

Q.—How can I polish and add luster to my ebony articles?

A.—By rubbing a little white petroleum jelly into them with a soft cloth, and rubbing until the wood has absorbed the jelly.

Q.—How can I make an emergency paste quickly?

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde E. Snow of Chester R. D. 1 have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Carolyn V. Snow, to Robert E. Conti, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene D. Conti of Weirton.

Miss Snow is a 1966 graduate of Oak Glen High School and is attending the A & H School of Beauty Culture in East Liverpool.

Her fiancé is a 1962 graduate of Follansbee High School and is attending the West Liberty branch college of Weirton. He is employed at the Weirton Steel Co.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Reports Given On Mental Health

Reports covering the last three months of service were submitted during the meeting of the coordinating committee of the Hancock - Brooke Mental Health Service at Weirton General Hospital, with Mrs. Michael Rodak presiding.

Mrs. Janet Sullivan, psychiatric social worker, and Dr. Guy C. Frisk, psychologist, reported 108 adults and 61 children were seen by the service, with treatment including therapy or psychological testing.

Other reports were given by Dr. Ray S. Greco and Dr. Willard Schwartz.

The professional staff of service includes Dr. Schwartz, consulting psychiatrist, Dr. Frisk, psychologist, and Mrs. Sullivan. The Mental Health Service, located in the Weirton hospital, is open three days a week—Tuesday, Wednesday and Saturday from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m.

Members of the coordinating committee are Dr. Schwartz, Dr. Frisk, Dr. Eli Weller, Dr. Greco, Charles Okey, Mrs. E. M. Clubb Jr., Mrs. Rodak and Mrs. Sullivan.

Field Trip To Hospital Set

Hancock Pupils To Mark Community Health Week

A field trip to Weirton General Hospital for 1500 students in observance of Community Health Week was approved by the Hancock County Board of Education during a meeting Monday night.

The students will be transported to the hospital in groups of 200 to examine booths and displays dealing with many phases of medicine.

Dr. Eli Weller of Weirton told the board the displays will be used to stimulate students toward careers in medicine and related fields.

The problem of student parking at Weir High School and Oak Glen High School was tabled again pending a ruling from West Virginia attorney general in connection with school liability.

Miss Linda Flowers of Chester asked the board permission to establish Youth For Christ Clubs at Oak Glen, explaining that the problem of transportation has been solved.

Supt. Robert Hall said the request will have to be checked with the North Central Association, since the clubs are not considered a school function.

The board voted to advertise for bids for a new balcony railing at Wells Junior High School in Newell.

A delegation of first-grade mothers from Weirton appeared before the board complaining classes at Marland Heights School are too crowded and there are too few teachers.

The group advocated splitting the classes "so the children may receive more individual attention."

Hall explained the teacher-pupil ratio is "pretty good" at the school and pointed out all schools in the system are crowded. He said this is because the county has grown more rapidly in population than was anticipated five years ago.

Robert Miller, board president, told the delegation the board will give the administrative staff at the school a week to iron out the difficulties and then the board will investigate.

Ruritans Have 60 At 'Family Night'

Sixty attended a "Family Night" observance held Monday night by the Southern Ruritan Club at the Oak Ridge Presbyterian Church.

The Rev. William Harper gave opening prayer. Tom Nelson, president, reported the club's obligation to the National Ruritan has been paid with the money to be used for construction of a new national headquarters.

Fred Leughmyer, finance chairman, submitted the final report on plans for the public chicken barbecue Oct. 5 from 5 to 8 p. m. at the Highlandtown Grange Hall.

Bob Nelson, lieutenant governor, reported on a fall zone meeting scheduled Saturday, Nov. 5, at 2 p. m. at Porter Washington High School near New Philadelphia.

William Wellington, Walter Nelson and James Faloan were named to the nominating committee.

J. Frederick Russell, program chairman, screened a movie of scenes taken in East Liverpool and Wellsville during 1966.

The next meeting will be Oct. 31 at the church.

South Side GOP Club Reports On Members

Some 70 members were signed at the South Side Republican Club's booth at the recent Hookstown Fair. It was announced Monday night during meeting of the club in the elementary building of South Side School.

Mrs. Daniel Wilson, president, said the next meeting will feature a coverdsh dinner, with political candidates and their families as guests.

If you bake scalloped potatoes in a slow oven, the chance of curdling will be reduced.

The popular cheer "sis-boom-rah," is a variant of another cheer popular in the 1860s when crowds at celebrations and patriotic events shouted in unison, "hiss-boom-ah," in imitation of the sound of a rocket being ignited, exploding and shedding its colored stars.

Mrs. Iris Bryan, past matron, introduced Mrs. Jessie Negley of St. Clairsville, past grand matron; Purle Piersen of Augusta, district deputy grand matron; Mrs. Arlene Blackburn of East Liverpool, grand representative of South Carolina; Mrs. Ruth Fitzsimmons of Wellsville, vice president of the District 13 Chapters Association, and Bruce Pelley of Hanover, treasurer.

Also introduced were Mrs. Anna Calvin and Sam Bye, 50-year members of Anna Eckley Chapter. Remarks were given by Mrs. Lucinda Lodge, who helped institute the Negley chapter in 1916.

The Rev. Richard Shipley of the Longs Run Presbyterian Church gave the invocation.

The program featured a minstrel, with Ed Shingler as interlocutor. End men were William Thomas, Gordon Smith, Fred Kane, Millie Wilson, Harriet En-triken and Frank Copestick Jr. Kane and John Calhoun presented solos and other selections were sung by a trio — Barbara Moore, Marie Sanass and Mary Lou Garey — and a quartet consisting of Ray En-triken, Kane, Thomas and Millie Wilson.

Weeks Of Back Pain Now Relieved

"After weeks of pain in my back and hips, I tried DeWitt's Pills—got wonderful relief," says Mrs. R. Gardner, Waterloo, Iowa.

DeWitt's Pills act fast with a proven analgesic to relieve pain of backache. Their mild diuretic action helps to eliminate retained bladder wastes that can cause physical distress. If pain persists, see your doctor. DeWitt's Pills often succeed where others fail—quickly relieve minor muscle aches and pains, too. Insist on the genuine DeWitt's Pills. At all drug counters.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Today at 3 a.m. an attractive 19-year-old boy was wheeled into the emergency room. It seems this fellow (I'll call him Roy) and his buddy had had three or four (or maybe it was five) beers. Roy was driving, fell asleep at the wheel and went off the road.

In a couple of hours Roy was sitting up in bed, smoking cigarettes and joking. He had come out of the accident awfully lucky — only minor bruises. When he asked what room his buddy was in, I told him I didn't know — that he had not been admitted to our floor.

Roy suddenly said, "I'm going to settle down from now on. I really learned my lesson."

The next morning Roy got the news. His buddy wasn't in the hospital. He was in the morgue. Too bad he didn't learn his lesson 24 hours earlier, before he killed his best friend. —NIGHT NURSE.

Dear Night Nurse: In the majority of fatal accidents, it's not the driver but the person seated next to the driver who becomes the statistic. So it was with Roy's best friend.

Your letter should be a warning to all teen-age drivers who think a few beers won't affect their ability to handle a car.

Weaker Sex?

Dear Ann: Please don't think my problem is too dumb to print. I need to know how long a kiss is supposed to last.

I go with a great girl who happens to be a Yogi fan and a medal-winning long-distance swimming champion. I hate to admit it but she is in better shape than I am.

Last night she got sore at me because I broke away first when we were kissing. She claims I "rejected" her. I told her I did no such thing. She said a fellow never is supposed to break away from a kiss first, that he is supposed to stay with it just as long as the girl does.

Is she right? What are the rules? Please advise me. —WINDED

Dear Winded: I know of no rules on kissing. People are supposed to make up their own rules as they go along.

I suspect it's not rules that you need, Buddy Boy, it's endurance. If you plan to continue to go with this girl you'd better get in shape.

Big Decision

Dear Ann: Skip the Sunday school lesson and give me some practical advice. I'm 53 years old but could pass for 45. I have been married twice and both times I picked handsome, smooth — talking phonies who gambled, chased and wouldn't hold a steady job.

I have worked like a horse ever since I was 16 and I'm plain tired. Now I have a chance to marry a widower, 64. He has a good income and drives a brand new car which I can use whenever I want.

The problem is that the man is an ignorant bore. For example, he didn't know that Austria and Australia were two different places.

To put it bluntly, Ann, I'm willing to make some compromises in life because I want somebody to take care of me for a change. What do you say?

—BEAT BARBARA

Dear Beat: What kind of compromises would you be willing to make if the man had financial reverses and got sick and you had to take care of him? Think about this possibility before you make the move.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Senator Hopes Katzenbach Challenges Foreign Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. at-large Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield expressed hope today the State Department would find in Nicholas Katzenbach a new devil's advocate who would challenge — rather than just support — U.S. foreign policy decisions.

Mansfield suggested that's the only way President Johnson can "be assured what he's getting is not all one-sided."

Atty. Gen. Katzenbach has been nominated by Johnson to replace Undersecretary of State George W. Ball, who in the role of devil's advocate was often the questioning skeptic about policy decisions, especially on Viet Nam, and became known as the "dove of the State Department."

Ball also became something of a favorite with Chairman J.W. Fulbright of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and some other critics of U.S. Viet Nam policy.

Katzenbach goes before Fulbright and his committee today for a close examination of his credentials and views on war and peace.

Presumably anticipating a lengthy examination of Katzenbach, the committee delayed until later its hearings on two other State Department nominations — Eugene V. Rostow, former dean of the Yale Law School, as undersecretary for political affairs, and Foy D. Kohler, ambassador to Moscow, as deputy undersecretary.

Fulbright has been less than enthusiastic about the appointments and was surprised at the President's decision to nominate the attorney general to be Secretary of State Dean Rusk's second in command.

There was little doubt, however, that all three nominations would be approved by the Senate.

Mansfield voiced concern in an interview about some of the State Department's swift rejections of proposals floated by countries such as the Soviet Union and France.

"It seems they can't wait to say no, instead of saying let's consider it," Mansfield said.

Katzenbach is considered generally sympathetic to the administration's Viet Nam policies, and there is a question as to how much of a policy critic or challenger he will be.

Hit-Skip Case Injures Man

A 23-year-old East End man escaped with minor injuries when knocked down by a hit-skip car Monday night at 10 10 at E. 2nd and Washington Sts., police said.

William Dorsey, 23, of 515 Virginia Ave. told officers he stepped off the curb at the intersection when he was struck by an unidentified car headed east on E. 2nd St. The impact hurled him into a nearby lot, he said. The offending car did not stop, Dorsey related.

The injured man drove to City Hospital, where he was treated for abrasions of the right knee. He reported the incident to Patrolman Ronald J. Brookes.

A barking dog which frightened the driver was blamed for a collision on St. Clair Ave. Monday at 4 46 p.m. in which a 1962 model car struck a parked auto, police said.

The auto of Margie Lee Sidel, 17, of Hill Blvd., southbound about 25 miles an hour, hit the rear of a parked 1957 model owned by Norris Schafer of Negley, officers said.

The girl reported her dog jumped up on the rear of the car. She turned around "to see if anything was wrong," she said, and her car struck the rear of the parked auto.

Two cars were damaged in a collision Monday at 4 05 p.m. on Pennsylvania Ave. at Mulberry St.

The collision involved a 1965 two-door sedan driven by Eleanor J. Bennett, 53, of 516 1/2 Jackson St. and a 1962 sedan operated by Paul Thomas, 22, of 470 Mulberry St., officers said.

The woman said she was halted for a traffic signal at Pennsylvania Ave. and Mulberry St. She began to proceed when the signal changed, then noted a halted school bus that was discharging passengers. When she stopped again, her auto was hit from the rear by the Thomas car, she said.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: We received a beautiful blanket but the tag giving washing instructions had been misplaced.

However, there is a little tag which says, "Acrylic Fibers."

Can you tell me the proper method for laundering this blanket?

ELLEN FORBES.

Dear Ellen: I have contacted Miss Edna Schappert, the Educational Director of Man-Made Fiber Producers Association, Inc., and here are her instructions:

"Fill washer with lukewarm water, approximately 100 degrees F."

"Add soap or detergent and water conditioner and run washer a minute or two until the washing product dissolves."

"Stop the machine and put in the blanket; if the blanket is heavily soiled, allow it to soak for five minutes. Begin washing action, using agitator or tumbler wash cycle of four to five minutes. Use slow speed if choice of cycle speed is available."

"The blanket should have two thorough rinses with lukewarm water. Add fabric softener to the final rinse following directions on the container for amount to use."

"Extract excess water from the blanket but do not twist blanket in removing the excess water. Set wringer on lightest possible pressure if a conventional washer is used, and spin method of extraction on a short spin cycle if an automatic washer is used."

"To dry the blanket in a home dryer, preheat the dryer at a warm temperature setting for 10 minutes, add the blanket and tumble for approximately 20 minutes or until the blanket is dry, and then remove as soon as dryer stops."

"To line dry, hang blanket evenly over a clean clothesline and smooth the bindings while damp."

Can you imagine anyone being so nice to take the time to give this information for us housewives?

Dear Heloise: One way to handle and carry the basket by holding the wooden stick.

This also makes the bag seem lighter if you hold on to the ends of the broomstick.

LIZ.

Dear Heloise: A recent suggestion in your column concerned the use of old manicure scissors for opening seams, but I add...

Just place a small aluminum pie plate at the opening and force it in a little.

The little pie plate will stay in place and keep the stuffing in the turkey so there's no need for sewing or skewering it.

RILEY.

Dear Heloise: A recent suggestion in your column concerned the use of old manicure scissors for opening seams, but I add...

If you use the blunt-edge scissors (available for cutting baby's nails), you will be absolutely sure to cut only the stitching, and not catch any threads of the material.

These scissors have proved to be successful seam rippers on all material from heavy wool to sheer material.

Dear Heloise: To keep your hunting license dry, put it in a plastic sandwich bag.

The bags are waterproof and dustproof and will protect the license in damp weather.

LAURINE M. SMITH.

Dear Heloise: Here is an idea for keeping hose in order. It has proven quite helpful and timesaving to me.

I have a plastic hose-holder make like a shoe bag that I attached to the back of my bedroom door.

I've been trying to find a brand of hose I really like, so each time I buy a pair I save the little label off the top and paste it on the bag with clear plastic sticky tape, just above the hose. The nylons are returned to the proper packet each time they are washed.

This gives the size length and shade I bought, and I can tell which brand, shade, etc., I prefer.

Playlot Project Contract Let At

The Hancock County commissioners awarded a contract to the Tri-State Asphalt Corp. for the repaving of the playground at the Children's Home at Pughtown during a meeting Monday night at the New Cumberland Courthouse.

The cost will be $6,065, less $247.50 for installation of a curb, which the commissioners ruled was not necessary.

The commissioners also awarded a $365 contract to Floyd C. Cox, East Liverpool contractor, for removal and re-setting of the playground equipment as part of the paving project.

Stewart Siegel of McKeesport, Pa., was employed as a house parent at the home at a salary of $150 a month.

The commission voted to close the season at Kennedy Park near Newell on Saturday.

Car Prices

ther called them "scandalous and shocking."

American Motors, fourth largest of the auto firms, was slated to announce its prices a couple of days before its cars go on sale Oct. 6.

Most other 1967 cars go on sale this week.

Analysis of Ford's new price schedule for 76 models showed prices had been adjusted on 55 of them, with 21 still carrying the original price tag. The biggest slashes were in the top-of-the-line Lincoln Continental where two models were cut $95 each.

Ford said of the price adjustments:

"Most of the reductions result from changing to optional some equipment previously announced as standard. For example, on most cars, color-keyed de luxe seat belts with warning light and remote control for the outside rear view mirror have been made optional.

"The balance of the reduction resulted from lower base prices."

Youth Sentenced To County Jail In Assault Charges

Robert Jackson, 19, of Pennsylvania Ave. was sentenced to a 30-day County Jail term today by Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff on a charge of assault and battery Sunday afternoon on Paul Thomas of 470 Mulberry St.

Thomas testified a disturbance began when Jackson used "foul language" toward a woman in Thomas' company in an auto on Mulberry St. He said Jackson threatened at one point to break the windshield of the auto with a large club. Catherine Williams of Monaca St., who accompanied Thomas, said Jackson and Thomas scuffled and Jackson choked Thomas.

Jackson, who pleaded not guilty, said Thomas threatened to "run me down" with his car. He said he was "only defending myself" in the scuffle. "You're only 19 but you have been in more scrapes than a man 39," the judge told Jackson before pronouncing sentence. "I understand you are called 'the mayor of Mulberry St.'" Jackson disclaimed the title.

"You are a menace to the people in East End," the judge added. "I think everybody has been too good to you in the past, including the court. That gang of yours will find its idol has feet of clay."

woman had taken part in the Selma-to-Montgomery civil rights march.

Thomas, Wilkins and Eaton were indicted for murder. Wilkins, whose first trial in state court ended with a deadlocked jury, was finally acquitted. Eaton, also a resident of Fairfield, died of a heart attack before he could be brought to trial on the murder indictment.

However, all three Klansmen were tried in federal court on civil rights conspiracy charges growing out of the Luzzo killing and each was sentenced to 10 years in prison. Their convictions are on appeal to the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

New Bridge In Tibet

HONG KONG — Communist China has built the first modern highway bridge across the Tsang Po River in Tibet and opened it to traffic August 1. Peking's New China News Agency reported. NCNA said the bridge, measuring 2,190 feet in length, was built in 130 days by workers who "held aloft the great red banner of Mao Tse-tung's thought and studied Chairman Mao's works."

Chester OK's Contract For Street Work

A $5,574 contract for resurfacing of various Chester streets was awarded the Ohio Tar & Asphalt Co. of Canton by Chester Council at a meeting Monday night.

The project will be launched next week, perhaps Wednesday, with $3,000 to be paid when the work is completed and the rest to be paid in February or March.

Don Bear and Larry Pitts of the firm requested the city pay the contract on the basis of tons of asphalt and gallons of oil rather than by the square feet method as in previous years.

They said the new method is better for determining the costs per street. Council agreed to the proposal.

DISCUSSION was held on means of storing slag in the city for the project and the types of slag available.

In other action, Council authorized the purchase of a $620 Meyer snow plow to be attached to the city truck for use in clearing snow from streets. The item will be obtained from the Wimmer Motor Sales of East Liverpool, represented last night by Bill Wimmer.

Council gave final approval to an ordinance establishing parking bans on streets and alleys where needed when determined by police and firemen. The measure is designed to help eliminate parking congestion.

In other action, Council referred to the building committee a request from Mrs. Mable Miles, City Hall caretaker, concerning her duties and agreed to study a request for improvement of the 1st St. hill.

HARRY CLARK, school guard, asked for a salary increase similar to other city employees. No action was taken.

No action was taken on a request for moving of a street light on Carolina Ave. between 3rd and 4th Sts. closer to the post office.

Remittances reported included $10,000 from advance on tax payments from the sheriff's department, $1,050 from the West Virginia Public Utility tax, $22 from driver licenses and $450 from general licenses.

Bills totaling $1,266 were paid. Reports were heard from committee chairmen.

Council authorized a police regulation providing the water department will pay $6 an hour for the rental of the street department's backhoe.

Scholarship Plan Set For Employees Of Loblaw Stores

Employees and their children of Loblaw Food Stores in East Liverpool are among those eligible to participate in a college scholarship program announced by Nat Malt, vice president and division manager, with offices in Youngstown.

More than 100 scholarships, ranging from $250 to $1,000 each, and totaling $65,000, will be awarded. Malt said the program is designed for part-time employees, who make up about half of the working force of all company stores, for full-time employees 24 years of age or under, and for children of full-time employees.

Malt said scholarship applications have been distributed to all employees in the Youngstown Division and to employees in the National Tea Co.'s 11 other divisions.

In applying for a scholarship, employees will take the Scholastic Aptitude Test given at testing centers throughout the country during the fall school term.

Winners will be announced next spring, Malt said.

Driver Has License Suspended For Year

LISBON — The driver's license of Daniel E. Moore, 17, of Homeworth, Alliance R. D. 5, was suspended for one year Monday following a juvenile traffic court hearing at the Courthouse here.

He pleaded guilty to a State Highway Patrol charge of driving while under the influence of alcohol. Patrolmen cited him at 5 p. m. Sunday on the Alliance - Homeworth Rd.

The court fined him $25 and told him to give Prosecuting Atty. J. Warren Betts a statement about where he got the beer. Patrolmen found a half-full beer bottle and five empty bottles in the car.

Birth Rate Drops

HONG KONG — Hong Kong's birth rate dropped to a record low of 27 per 1,000 in line between Guildford and Day, 1965 because of wider use of leford in Central Victoria — contraceptives, the Hong Kong Family Planning Association reported. The previous low reported in the colony's 3.8 million population was 29 per 1,000 registered in 1964.

At Wellsville Oct. 1

Dedication Of Church Set

The new Kingdom Hall of the Wellsville Congregation of the Jehovah's Witnesses, located at 472 14th St. Ext., will be dedicated Oct. 1 at 6:50 p. m.

L. H. Howell, the presiding minister, will give the welcome.

The speakers will be R.R.

Hartman of Brooklyn, N. Y., a representative of the Watchtower Society, and Grant Suiter, secretary-treasurer of the Society.

The day will begin with a field service at 8:30 a. m. by Hartman. Open house will be from 3 to 5 p. m., when refreshments will be served.

Colored slides of the building will be screened by Emerson E. Booth, minister of the East Liverpool congregation.

The construction program began about two years ago, with the work on a voluntary basis.

During Meeting Of Council

Police Chief Resignation Accepted At Salineville

SALINEVILLE — The resignation of Bard Dietzel as police chief was formally accepted by Council Monday night.

Council also made changes in the salary schedule to be paid future officers and authorized the mayor to begin accepting applications for the post.

Dietzel resigned about three weeks ago, but there was an indication he might return to the post if various changes were made.

Councilman Dwane Felon made the motion to accept the resignation. It was seconded by Councilman Gillis Earls. Councilwoman Kathryn Weaver cast the only dissenting vote.

Council then authorized Mayor Stanley Fitch to accept applications for the chief's job until Saturday.

COUNCIL adopted legislation increasing the salary to $410 a month, provided the chief obtains his own living quarters. If the village must provide an apartment, the salary will remain at $340 a month.

In other action, a discussion was held on the purchase of the VFW building. Some members asked to be allowed to inspect the building once more before reaching a decision.

25 Set To Take Exams For Ohio Patrol Academy

LISBON — Entrance examinations for the Ohio Highway Patrol Academy will be given Saturday at 9 a. m. at Lisbon Post 15 of the Patrol.

Sgt. R. J. Rizzo of Post 15 said 25 young men have applied and application blanks are still available at the post on Route 30, one mile southeast of Lisbon.

"We'll accept men right up until exam time, providing they meet the qualifications," he added.

In view of the intensified recruitment program, applicants can expect quick processing of applications. Most men applying now will be entering the Academy in October and November, Rizzo said. "This is more than just a job offer, it's a career opportunity as a professional law enforcement officer in the nation's most respected highway patrol."

Basic requirements for a patrolman are: high school graduate, 21 to 30 years of age, at least 5 feet, 9 inches tall and 160 pounds and good physical condition.

Patrolmen receive $460 monthly to start, with raises to $550 in four years. Fringe benefits include paid vacations, all uniforms and equipment furnished and a retirement plan. Out-of-state residents are eligible.

Phone Lines Stolen

MELBOURNE — Thieves have been busy on the telephone record low of 27 per 1,000 in line between Guildford and Day, 1965 because of wider use of leford in Central Victoria — contraceptives, the Hong Kong Family Planning Association reported. The previous low reported in the colony's 3.8 million population was 29 per 1,000 registered in 1964.

Helen Kane, Roaring 20s Singer, Dies

NEW YORK (AP) — Helen Kane, whose gay little girl's voice made the phrase "boop-boop-a-doop" a part of the legend of the Roaring 20s, died Monday at 62 after a 10-year battle with cancer.

She succumbed at her home in Jackson Heights, Queens, only hours after watching a television revival of "Three Little Words," a movie in which she sang "I want to be loved by you" — her biggest hit.

Dan Healy, her husband, said, "She got a great kick out of hearing her voice coming out loud and clear."

The "boop-boop-a-doop" refrain that Miss Kane made a part of most of her songs had its birth in 1928 when she was appearing at New York's Paramount Theater. She inserted the line at a rehearsal and it was a hit as soon as the public heard it.

"I don't know why I did it," she once told an interviewer. "It just came out like that."

The line and Miss Kane's squawky-voiced gaiety carried her to Hollywood. There her films brought her salaries of up to $8,000 a week.

During the good days, "Money was falling off trees," she recalled. Miss Kane bought houses, swimming pools and businesses. But the investments went bad and the fortune disappeared.

She was attempting a comeback 10 years ago when cancer struck.

Young Driver Gets $15 Fine

Ronald J. Matthews, 19, of 612 Penn. Ave., Midland, was fined $15 and costs today by Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff when he pleaded guilty to a State Highway Patrol charge of speeding 65 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone on Route 7 Monday at 7:45 p. m.

Don Schiappa of Steubenville was ordered to pay the court costs on a patrol charge of "failure to drive entirely on the right half of the roadway." He was cited Sept. 18 at 1:30 a. m. on Route 30. Schiappa pleaded "no contest."

James D. Thrasher of 17th St., Wellsville, was ordered to pay the court costs on a charge of improper registration. Cited Friday at 9 a. m. on Route 7 by the patrol, he pleaded guilty. Thrasher told the court he since has obtained proper registration for the vehicle.

A hearing is due Wednesday for Gerald Edgar Winstead of 1896 Anderson Blvd., cited Monday at 7:30 p. m. by the patrol on a charge of speeding 70 miles an hour in a 60-mile zone.

County Judge Jails 2 For Drunken Driving

Two drivers were jailed and fined $100 and costs each for driving while intoxicated by County Judge Herbert Atman at East Palestine Monday.

Kenneth Morris of Lisbon and Joseph William Landsberger of East Palestine R.D. 1 were fined and jailed and given one-year license suspensions by the judge, who also placed them on one-year probation.

IF IT'S ELECTRIC,

Phoning the electric company will only delay matters. It's not that the electric company doesn't want to help, it's just that they don't do that sort of thing. Nothing personal. Someone at the electric company will probably think to tell you to call the appliance dealer who sold you the dryer in the first place. Remember where you bought it? Good. Do you also remember if it's still in warranty... or if you've bought a service policy on it? Find the warranty (it's usually a little, green piece of paper stuffed somewhere in the back of a kitchen drawer), and phone the appliance dealer. If he has a service department, ask for it. Explain your problem carefully. Then he'll explain his problems. He has many. The sales department is great. They sell lots of clothes dryers. And naturally the more electric dryers they sell, the more the service department has to fix. Right? Pity the poor overworked service department. How about next Thursday? If your appliance dealer doesn't have a service department, it's a bit more complicated. After you've dug out your old clothesline and put it up, get out the phone book again and start calling the appliance dealers who sell the particular

This is a sprig from a redwood tree, a conifer.

Debate Goes on: How to Insure Redwoods' Future

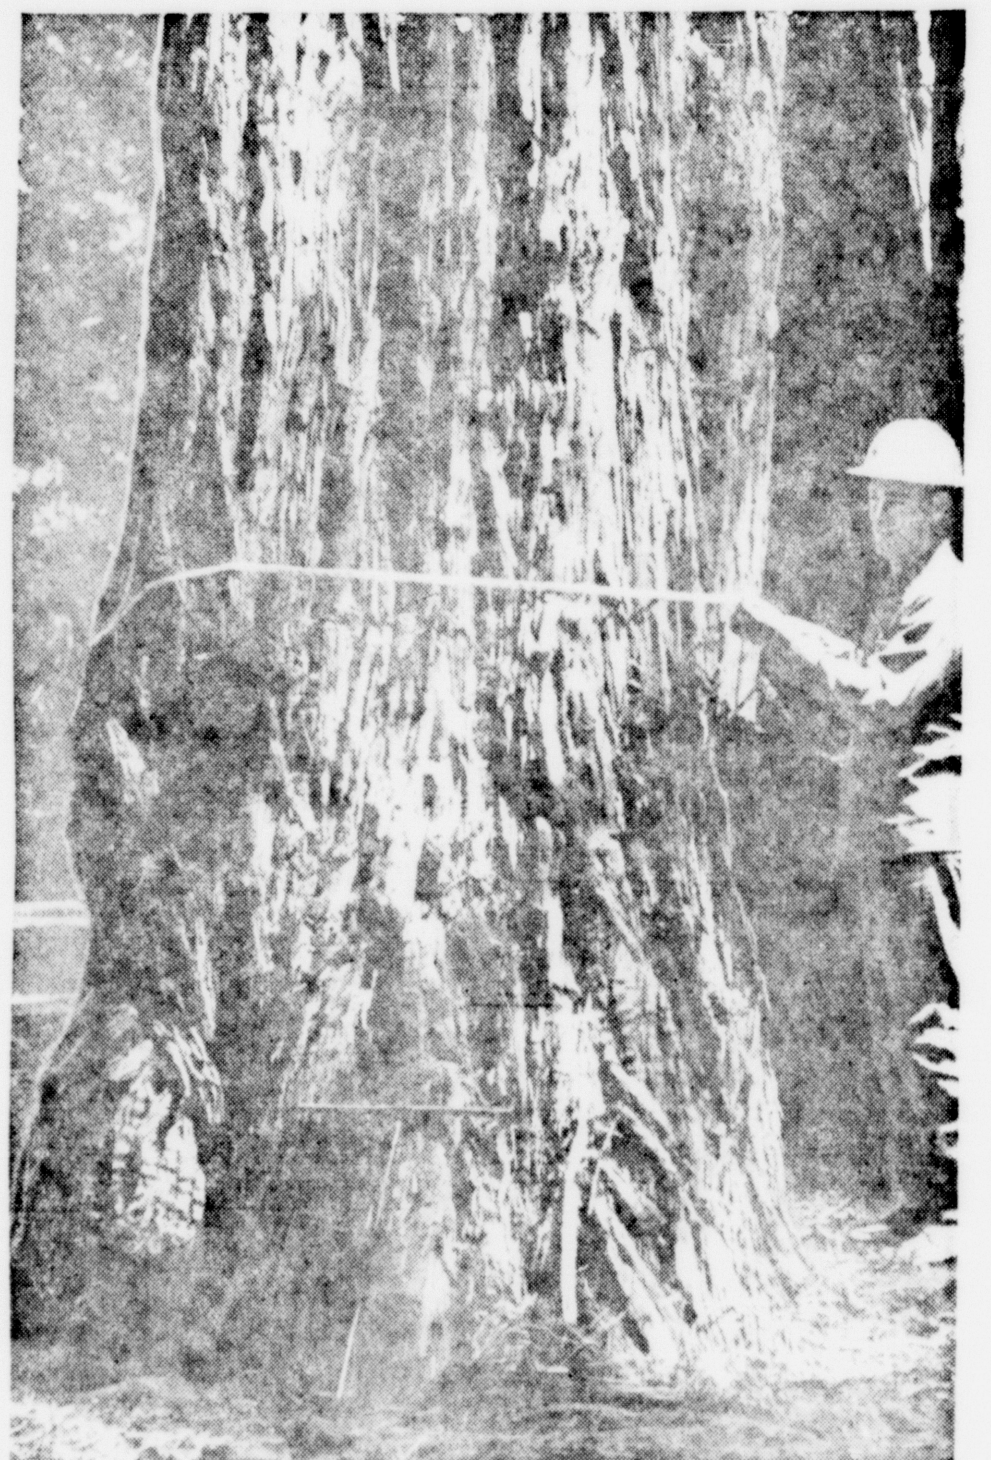

CONTROVERSY SHATTERS the majestic quiet of the forests where nature's oldest living things grow. The giant sequoias and California redwoods face extinction or are perfectly safe, depending on which side of the controversy is heard. Conservationists believe that the trees, unmatched for beauty, height and girth, are threatened despite 49,000 acres of virgin-growth redwoods in 28 California state parks. Floods and other destructive influences are cited as forces that could wipe out remnants of what was once almost two million acres of forest. A Redwood National Park is considered necessary to preserve the trees "in a natural state." The lumber interests claim there is no danger of running out of redwoods. The loss in jobs if more acres of trees are put aside is considered a danger to the economy. Lumber companies also answer critics by pointing to tree farms that are growing a new crop of redwoods,

A forester shows a student the preservatives in redwood heartwood on a stump that is sprouting new growth a year after it was cut.

Girth of a redwood that sprouted from a stump is measured in Sonoma County, Calif. Tree was cut by Russian colonists in early 1800s.

A picture of a mountainside that has been stripped of redwoods shows why many persons are concerned about the future of the trees. Floods often follow stripping.

Court Rules On Picketing At Coal Firm

BEAVER — A Beaver County Court order was issued today directing orderly picketing at the Peggs Run Coal Co. facility at Shippingport, where members of the United Mine Workers of America have been on strike since Thursday.

The coal firm filed a petition asking an injunction to curb picketing operations at the plant.

The defendants were directed to conduct picketing in a manner defined by the court.

This means free entry and departure for all authorized persons, and not more than four pickets at each entrance. No pickets are to offer any violence or intimidation against any one leaving or entering, and shall say nothing to those entering or leaving except to advise them verbally the union is on strike.

The court order, issued by Judges Ralph Scalera and John Sawyer, stressed the company shall recognize the right of the union to peaceful strike.

The firm employs some 28 men.

Trial Scheduled In Road Blocking

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today scheduled trials Oct. 4 for a couple now residing in the Glenmoor area who are accused of blocking a public highway last March 2 while residents of the Valley Ave. area.

Kenneth R. Ice and Pansy Ice, his wife, now of Annesley Rd., were named in affidavits filed by Robert Powell of Valley Ave. The lengthy affidavit says that the couple "did with force of arms knowingly and unlawfully obstruct and encumber the public highway known as Hudson St." in Liverpool Township "by erecting thereon a fence with intent to obstruct and encumber said highway to the common nuisance of the citizens of the county, township, and State of Ohio."

Mrs. Ice appeared before the judge this morning and was granted a continuance in the trial to allow her to obtain counsel.

Deadline Due On City Taxes

Friday is the deadline for payment of the third quarterly installment on city income tax for persons whose entire earnings are not subject to withholding at the source. Tax Commissioner D. G. Wilkinson reminded today.

A penalty will be added to any payment made after the deadline, as the city ordinance provides. Wilkinson pointed out. The deadline applies only to those who must file individual returns, the tax commissioner said. Persons whose entire income is covered by withholding need not file quarterly reports.

Friday also is the final deadline for submission of declarations of estimated tax on the part of 84 individuals who have not complied with the ordinance. Wilkinson said. The estimates were due last April 15. Wilkinson sent reminders a week ago to 96 who had not furnished the reports. Fourteen complied, but 84 still are in violation of the ordinance, he said.

Wilkinson said he will begin work next week on preparation of criminal charges to be filed in Municipal Court, citing the individuals for non-compliance.

Since Friday marks the end of another quarter in the tax-office's operation, Wilkinson said he will file a report with Council next Monday night detailing collections in the first three quarters of 1966. It will cover the period from Jan. 1 through Sept. 30, he explained.

Jury Delays Quizzing Of 13 Crime Figures

NEW YORK (AP)—A grand jury has put over until Friday its questioning of 13 Cosa Nostra chiefs while it receives an extensive background briefing from law enforcement officials.

Seven of the 13 seized last week at a "Little Apalachin" conference were told to return Friday and the other six next Monday. They were allowed to go home after a bomb scare disrupted Monday's proceedings.

The crime syndicate executives were dismissed without testifying after a 90-minute police search of the Queens County Criminal Courts Building failed to turn up any explosives. The 13 are free on $100,000 bail each as material witnesses in the inquiry.

Peace Appeal Made By LBJ

MOSCOW (AP)—President Johnson said today that the Russian and American people "are more naturally friends than enemies" and that "no two nations have more to lose in war than the United States or the Soviet Union."

The President made his plea for peace between the two great powers in an interview in the 10th anniversary issue of America, the U.S. State Department's Russian-language magazine sold in the Soviet Union.

"As great powers our two nations will undoubtedly have commitments that will conflict," Johnson told the Russian people.

"But there is one commitment I hope we both share—the commitment to a warless world."

Seminar Planned On Law Changes

Lawyers, police officers and newsmen from three Ohio counties, including Columbiana, and two in Pennsylvania have been invited to attend a seminar on "Changes in Criminal Law" at the Mural Restaurant in Youngstown at noon next Monday.

The seminar is being sponsored by the Continuing Legal Education Committee of the Mahoning County Bar Association headed by its chairman, Eugene R. Smith.

The program will feature Prof. Lawrence Herman, specialist in criminal law at the Ohio State University School of Law.

Reservations will be accepted by mail or telephone from any policeman (including sheriffs and state highway patrolmen), all attorneys and any interested newsmen of any media from Mahoning, Columbiana and Trumbull Counties in Ohio and Mercer and Lawrence Counties in Pennsylvania.

Prof. Herman will deal largely with the recent U. S. Supreme Court rulings that many officials believe have handicapped police in making criminal investigations.

Court Orders Man's Arrest

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today ordered a bench warrant for the arrest of Fred L. Rayl of 246 W. 4th St., who failed to appear for a continuation of a hearing on charges of allowing "filth and filth" to collect on his property and failure to obey a deputy state fire marshal's order to tear down or repair the building.

Rayl has been before the court on several occasions on the charges, which were filed Sept. 1 by Fire Chief Alfred Van Dyne and Ben Weber, a Health Department sanitarian.

In his last appearance on Sept. 13, the case was continued until today on Rayl's promise to clean up the premises in the meantime. The property is at rear 1457 Bates St., according to the affidavit.

When the case was called this morning, a man and woman walked to the bench and identified themselves as in-laws of the defendant. They said Rayl "couldn't make it this morning." Nonplussed for a moment, the judge pointed out one person cannot appear in another's place in a criminal complaint.

Questioned by the court, Van Dyne replied that Rayl "hasn't done anything" with the property since his last court appearance. Van Dyne said he inspected the premises this morning.

Anti-Israeli Army Armed By Red China

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—The head of the Palestine Liberation Organization confirmed today that his fledgling anti-Israeli army is being armed by Communist China.

"This is no secret," said Ahmed Shukairy. "China is one of our main sources of arms."

The U. S. State Department has said it had reports but no documented evidence that Peking was donating weapons to the Arab force.

Shukairy's force is estimated at 4,000 trained Palestinian refugees whose families lost their homes in the Arab-Israeli war.

Custodian Hired At East Palestine

EAST PALESTINE — The board of education Monday night hired Donald Rafferty of 845 W. Martin St. as junior high school custodian, replacing Dale Moon, who resigned Oct. 1 to accept a post with the L. W. Nash Co.

Rafferty was formerly a dipper at the Royal China Co.

Mrs. Earl Strohecker of Lyons Ave. was hired as a bus driver, replacing Charles Roush.

The board authorized the purchase of a $400 metal cutting band saw for the industrial arts department.

Ohio Airman Awaits LBJ's Okay To Bring In Daughter

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP)—An airman from Middletown is awaiting presidential action on the "Irene Snyder Bill," which would permit him to bring his adopted Greek daughter into the United States.

President Johnson is expected to sign the bill Friday, permitting Sgt. Robert Snyder to move his wife, Irene, a 9-year-old son, Vincent Roy, and an adopted daughter, Irene, 1, to New Jersey.

Immigration laws prohibit Irene from entering this country, and Snyder's family is presently living at Fort Erie, Ontario, in Canada just across the U.S. border from Buffalo, N.Y. Snyder is stationed at McGuire Air Force base in New Jersey.

Irene was adopted by Snyder and his English-born wife from a poor Greek family when she was five months old.

But immigration laws restrict bringing adopted foreign children into the United States while the child's natural parents are still living unless the child has lived with her new parents at least two years.

Snyder completed a six-year tour overseas, including four years in Greece, shortly after Irene was adopted. He tried to enter the U.S. with Irene at New York June 30, but was refused.

In the meantime the sergeant got an apartment for his family in Canada. They have been living there three months.

Rep. Rodney Love, D-Ohio, learned of the situation and with Sen. Frank Lausche, D-Ohio, the "Irene Snyder Bill" was introduced and approved by Congress.

Love said President Johnson is expected to act on it Friday.

Rep. Powell Faces Trial On Contempt

NEW YORK (AP)—Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., stripped last week of many of his powers as a House committee chairman, now faces trial on criminal contempt charges growing out of a libel judgment he lost more than three years ago.

The Appellate Division of the State Supreme Court ruled Monday that the Harlem congressman must stand trial for evading court orders in connection with the defamation of character action.

An attorney for Powell said he would attempt to block the ruling and head off the trial scheduled for Wednesday.

Powell, whose control over the Education and Labor Committee was limited by a vote of his colleagues last week, was judged to have defamed Esther James, a 68-year-old Harlem widow, on a television program in 1960. He had called her a "bag woman" or graft collector for corrupt policemen.

After various adjustments, the courts ordered Powell to pay Mrs. James $160,000 in $600-a-week installments. The contempt charges, involving five separate specifications, developed from his failures to answer subpoenas during litigation.

Acting under a law which provides penalties of up to 30 days in jail and a $250 fine for criminal contempt, Supreme Court Justice Irving Sappol last month ordered a trial to determine the degree of Powell's "willfulness in ignoring the subpoenas."

Sentenced To Prison

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Federal Judge Carl A. Weinman pronounced a three-year prison sentence Monday for James F. Clark, 34, who pleaded guilty in July of embezzling $8,667 from the Xenia bank he managed.

Barbers Strike Over 'Crew-Cut' Wages At Base

ET CAMPBELL, Ky. (AP)—Balking at hospital-style uniforms, crew-cut wages and Beatle-type hours, barbers at Ft. Campbell laid down their combs Monday and set up picket lines at gates to this huge base.

Their contract expired Monday. C. C. Sanders, barbers' union representative, said a meeting of union members, Army officials and representatives of a private contractor lasted about 30 minutes and accomplished little.

The barbers became disgruntled a week ago when the civilian barber contractor announced the price of GI haircuts on the base would be cut from 90 cents to 75 cents. The barbers set up picket lines but later agreed to work until the contract expired.

Frank Callis, one of the strikers, said the contractor is asking barbers to wear white smocks, white shoes and white pants, and work 10 hours a day, seven days a week.

Barbers receive 62 per cent commission for their work, he said.

Ten of the 12 barber shops on the post were vacant. Seven were charged with embezzling nonunion barbers were at work in service clubs.

Hearing On Probation Set In Embezzlement

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—A probation hearing will be held next week for Miss Veronica Elizabeth Suder, who pleaded guilty to taking part in the embezzlement of $33,329 in premium payments from an insurance agency.

Miss Suder, who admitted taking $7,500 from a Youngstown branch of the mutual of Omaha Insurance Co., pleaded guilty Monday before Common Pleas Court Judge Sidney Rigelhaupt.

Miss Suder, 45, and Mrs. Elizabeth Ann Bocher, 36, Poland, the post were vacant. Seven were charged with embezzling the money between June of 1964 and last February.

'44' At Syracuse Always Worn By Great Backs

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — As long as there's a Syracuse University football team there always will be a number '44'.

And, as long as there's a '44' there probably always will be an outstanding player at left half-back for Syracuse.

It has become one of the most coveted sweater numbers in college football. It's a built-in lure for a boy, particularly a Negro boy, who likes to run with the football.

The number now graces the orange jersey of Floyd Little, a 195-pound, bow-legged will o' the wisp from New Haven, Conn., already being boomed for All America honors.

Before that, it was worn by such greats as Jimmy Brown and the late Ernie Davis. It's a sort of mantle to be draped on the shoulders of only the super special.

"I was intent on going to Notre Dame," explains Little, who good kids, no drinking, smoking scored 19 touchdowns as a junior or carousing. And she still last year. "Then Ernie Davis cracks a mean whip."

came to see me. He promised I could wear '44. That clinched it."

Before Little, Davis, a poor boy from Elmira, N.Y., winner of the Heisman Trophy and later victim of Leukemia, was recruited by Brown.

Besieged by attractive offers from scores of colleges, he chose Syracuse. The deciding factor was the numeral "44."

"It's become a custom," Little, relaxing recently in the Syracuse fieldhouse, said. "Brown called on I guess, Davis called on me, and I know, some day I'll be calling on some other boy they want at Syracuse."

Little is the second youngest of six children brought up on relief checks by a widowed mother.

"Mom is tough—she can still take me," Floyd said, with obvious pride. "She raised us to be good kids, no drinking, smoking."

He didn't drink, didn't smoke, scored 19 touchdowns as a junior or carousing. And she still last year. "Then Ernie Davis cracks a mean whip."

Junior Editors Quiz on PLANTS

QUESTION: Do plants sleep?

ANSWER: We think of sleep as the human state (lower picture) where our body functions, such as heart rate and blood pressure as well as our conscious thought, slow down. This gives us a chance to rest and awake refreshed. Judging by this standard, plants do not sleep, for they have no hearts or blood systems or conscious thought resembling ours to slow down. Yet plants can be said to sleep in the sense that, at night, they cease many activities they carry on by day. Certain plants, such as bean sprouts and clover, let their leaves droop at night, and there is even a special name for this "nyctotropism." You may call this sleep, but it is different from our sleep since it is not a restorative period, but simply a time of inactivity. During the day, plants are very busy making plant food with their leaves. At this time, they absorb carbon dioxide and throw off oxygen. This ceases at night, but a breathing process goes on as it had during the day in which oxygen is taken in and carbon dioxide given off.

FOR YOU TO DO: Go into your garden at night and see if you can find any examples of plant-sleeping, or nyctotropism.

Cindy Bower of Waterloo, N.Y., wins today's combined prize of Compton's Illustrated Science Dictionary plus $10 cash for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of The Review.
